- He noted that the closing balance of the Society’s accounts for the financial year was $217,700.24, after starting with $355,702.94 (operating deficit of $138,002.70). Income had come mostly from membership fees, event bookings, NZ Branch capitation fees, bank interest and GST refunds. Expenditure was mostly associated with awards, sponsorship and tributes, disbursement of Symposium revenue to branches, seed funding for the 2018 Symposium, membership payments to the branches, event booking payment to branches, travel/meeting costs for Council members, administrative support, PO Box and legal fees, liability insurance, website and membership database fees, and GST payment to the ATO.

- An online video hosting facility was created via the ANZFSS website whereby branches can upload videos/talks
- A facility for members to register and pay events through the website
- Harmonised branch rules and in final stages of ratification by all branches

These are great improvements and I take the opportunity to thank everyone who contributed to these efforts. As a Society, we have come a long way to make the ANZFSS a more professional Society.

Six years ago, the current Executive was elected with a clear mandate of ‘professionalization’. This mandate was confirmed twice and, together, the Executive and Council have continued to work in this direction. The reasons for the Society to step up and be seen as a professional association, a go-to organisation and an independent voice for forensic science have been presented and discussed previously and will not be repeated here. After a long consultative process, including a well-attended online feedback survey, I am pleased to report that the Society is now in a position to propose to the members a newly created professional membership category, to be voted on today. Along with the ANZFSS Executive and Council, I am convinced that the proposed direction is a necessary evolution to drive the Society into the future, enhancing the professional identity of the Society as a whole and putting us on a par with our sister societies in the UK and USA. This is even more critical given that the changing landscape of forensic science in Australia and New Zealand effectively means that the ANZFSS is now the only significant independent forensic science organisation in these two countries.

I sincerely thank the whole Executive, including Alison Sears, Professionalization Project Officer and Council for their commitment and thoughtful discussions.

We are undoubtedly a vibrant and healthy Society that increased its membership by 26% over the last two years, reaching a current total of 1,203 financial members (1,044 in Australia and 159 in New Zealand). Combined with very healthy finances (see Treasurer’s Report), we can look into the future with confidence.

As indicated in my welcome speech, our biennial International Symposium has gone from strength to strength over the last 14 years. We have not reached the end of this year’s Symposium yet, but we can say without a doubt that the 2016 vintage will be a great success. I warmly thank Sarah Scott, Dr Jo-Anne Bright, Matt Gittos, the Organising Committee and Conference Innovators who have worked with enthusiasm and commitment to deliver yet again another world-class event this year. This growth seems guaranteed, with the 2018 conference to be held in Perth, followed by our bid for joint meeting with the International Association of Forensic Sciences in Sydney in 2020, 30 years after the IAFS meeting in Adelaide.

On behalf of the Society, I warmly congratulate the following members who received an ANZFSS or ANZFSS-related award in the last two years:

- Adelaide Medal (IAFS): Dr Tony Raymond (NSW);
- Allan Hodda Memorial Award: Caroline Gibb (VIC) and Natasha Mitchell (SA); and
- Ian Riebeling Memorial Medal: Danielle Butzbach (SA)

I wish to thank my colleagues of the Executive (and Office Bearers) who provided much-needed support and guidance over the last 24 months:

- Anna Davey (Vice-President Australia and Newsletter Editor)
- Matt Gittos and Prof. James Curran (Vice-Presidents New Zealand)
- Assoc. Prof. James Wallman (Secretary)
- Prof. Chris Lennard (Treasurer)
- Bill Crick (Immediate Past President)
- Alison Sears (Professionalization Project Officer)

As you know, I am standing down today, along with James and Chris, who have been two fantastic teammates. It has been a great honour to serve our Society at the Executive level for six years, 12 years in a leadership position (Branch President, Symposium Chair and President). The ride has always been interesting, although challenging at times. It has given me a great appreciation of the complexity and value of the forensic science community in our part of the world. However, it is important and very healthy for any such Society to experience executive changes every few years. I humbly believe the next Executive will inherit a Society that has been renewed and is in great shape. This is to the credit of all our colleagues in the Executive and Council over the years.

I wish all the best to the incoming Executive. I have no intention to interfere with the next leadership group, but I will not disappear off the face of the Earth and will always be here for assistance if required.

Ultimately, I thank all the members of the Society. Without you, there would be no Society, and you can rest assured that you have been central to any discussion that we have had since 2010, be it at the Executive or Council level.

Yours forensically,

Prof. Claude Roux
